Twinkies and Root Beer

We continue our journey through the Easter season reflecting upon all that had happened that Easter morning. The Scripture readings during this season invite us to take time to meditate upon those readings in light of our relationship with God. We recall the question that Jesus poses to Peter when He asks Peter; who do you say that I am? Peter's response is: you are the Christ the Son of the living God.

The story that follows, reminds us that God reveals Himself to us in many forms or disguises. I hope this story prompts some reflection on how we see God working in our life. Enjoy!!

A little boy wanted to meet God. He knew it was a long trip to where God lived, so he packed his suitcase with Twinkies and a six pack of root beer, and he started his journey. When he had gone about three blocks, he met an elderly man. The man was sitting in the park just feeding the pigeons.

The boy sat down next to the elderly man and opened his suitcase. He was about to take a drink from his root beer when he noticed that the man looked hungry, so he offered him a Twinkie. The man gratefully accepted it and smiled at the boy. His smile was so pleasant that the boy wanted to see it again, so he offered the elderly man a root beer

Again, the man smiled at him. The boy was delighted! They sat there all afternoon eating and smiling, but they never said a word. As it grew dark, the boy realized how tired he was and got up to leave, but before he had gone more than a few steps, he turned around, ran back to the man, and gave him a big hug. The man gave the little boy the biggest smile ever.

When the boy opened the door to his house a short time later, his mother was surprised by the look of joy on his face. She asked him, what did you do today to make you so happy? He replied, "I had lunch with God". Before his mother could respond, he added, "You know what? God has got the most beautiful smile I have ever seen!"

Meanwhile, the elderly man also radiant with joy returned to his home. His son was stunned by the look of peace on his father's face and asked, "Dad, what did you do today to make you so happy?" The father replied, "I ate Twinkies in the park with God". However, before the son responded, he added, "You know God is much younger than I expected."

Too often we underestimate the power of a touch, a smile, a kind word, a listening ear, an honest compliment, or the smallest act of caring, all of which have the potential to turn life around. People come into our lives for a reason, a season, or a lifetime. Embrace everyone equally. Take the time to see God throughout your daily life.

Bon mot: Faith is the root of all good works; a root that produces nothing is dead.

—Daniel Wilson

On April 2, 2023, the JWJ Catholic Academy of Faith Formation embarked on a Service Project to Benefit "Friends of Madison Heights".

The organization runs a food pantry for families in need and distributes food to the community. They noticed, in their collections and distribution, that many children were in need of snack food items for lunch, but they were not receiving many of these items.

At St. Jane Frances de Chantal, our goal and our promise to them was that we would fill up 3 of their bins with food snack bags, each containing 5 snack items that they could place in their lunch distribution. This would amount to approximately 100 snack bags with 500 snack items.

Our families were extremely giving in their donations and we ended up filling 8 bins of snack bags, totaling nearly 300 filled bags with 1500 items, tripling our initial goal and promise. This was at St. Jane Frances only, as St. Rene Goupil, the other extension of JWJ Catholic Academy, collected nearly the same amount of items, so our final donation was 600 bags with 3000 snack items. WOW!

Thank you to the families of JWJ Catholic Academy for their generous donations! We will continue to help out in the community whenever and wherever needed.

Today we hear one of my favorite pieces of Scripture – the retelling of the two disciples on the road to Emmaus. This scripture passage illustrates Jesus’ great teaching on accompaniment, the most important aspect of evangelization in our new world. In Archbishop Vigneron’s Pastoral Letter, Unleash the Gospel, he writes in Marker 6.2 of the model of accompaniment that is provided in this scripture: “Accompaniment of those being evangelized is an essential part of unleashing the Gospel. When Jesus walked with the two disciples on the road to Emmaus, he did not immediately begin to instruct them. Instead he first listened to them and allowed them to share their hopes and disappointments, winning their trust. He met them where they were in their faith and helped them to go further.”

In our world today, we need Jesus’ accompaniment more than ever. Invite Jesus in, share your hopes and disappointments, let Him meet you where you are, in joy, in sorrow, in grief, and in hope. One way to connect with Jesus is through Ignatian Prayer. If you aren’t familiar with this type of prayer, here is a description from the Ignatian Spirituality website: “Ignatian prayer is imaginative, reflective, and personal. St. Ignatius Loyola encouraged people to develop an intimate relationship with a God who loves them and desires the best for them. Ignatius Loyola trusted human desires. He believed that our deepest desire is to return God’s love. Ignatius Loyola also trusted feelings. He believed that feelings of joy and sorrow, peace and distress, were important indicators of the path toward fruitful decisions and deeper union with God.”

The following is an imaginative prayer session focused on today’s scripture. I hope you give it a try!

Imaginative Prayer: A Meeting on the Road to Emmaus

By Vinita Hampton Wright

This imaginative prayer exercise is based on Luke 24:13-35, the story of the disciples on the road to Emmaus.

It’s a long walk home from Jerusalem, but you’re glad for the exertion. The physical work of walking might ease, just slightly, the harder work that’s going on inside you today.

It is the work of grief. You lost a friend just a few days ago. Not only a friend, but your leader, your beloved teacher. And he didn’t simply die; he was executed in the most torturous, shameful way. You’ve seen a lot in your lifetime, but the memories of Jesus’ ordeal are forever branded into your memory. You close your eyes and see blood; you go to sleep but dream about someone suspended, gasping for air.

At least your friend is with you—both of you followed the teacher, with equal conviction and enthusiasm. So you bear your grief together now. As you walk and walk through the long, rainy afternoon, you encourage better memories—of all that the teacher said, of the people you know whom Jesus healed. You can’t seem to stop talking, although several times one or both of you must stop talking because you must cry for a while.

The stranger joins you while you are still several miles from home. Within moments, it’s clear that this person has no idea what has been going on in Jerusalem. With great heaviness and some annoyance, you fill in the barest details for him. All you have to say is “crucifixion” and anyone in Roman territories knows exactly what you’re talking about.

But the stranger engages in the conversation with great energy. He must be some kind of teacher, because he launches into an explanation of how Jesus’ fate is actually a good thing and the proper fulfillment of what was predicted long ago. This is fascinating—you and your friend are all ears. Before you know it, you’ve arrived at your home and it’s getting dark.

You invite the stranger to have supper with you and spend the night, rather than risk injury or other misfortune while on the road at night alone. Also you want to hear more of what he has to say. He graciously accepts your offer.

The first thing you do upon entering the house is prepare the evening meal. The three of you sit down to eat. Then the stranger takes the bread and blesses it. You feel a strange energy move through you and hover in the room.

Where have you heard this sort of blessing before?

The stranger hands each of you a piece of the bread. You take it, and memory washes over you—of a hillside with thousands of hungry people. Of a few loaves and fishes being transformed in an instant to miraculous abundance.

Suddenly, it is clear who this man is, eating at your table. You look into his face.

What do you see? What is his expression? What do you feel? What do you know in the truth of your heart?

Your friend has barely gotten the words out—“Why, it’s the Lord!”—when the stranger vanishes.

The room still feels strangely warm, and there are waves of that energy, like lightning sparking all over the room. You and your friend stare at one another, and finally you say, “Weren’t our hearts on fire when he explained the Scriptures? Didn’t we know something even then—we just couldn’t identify it?”

You finish your meal—what a healing pleasure to eat the bread blessed by those hands! But then you look at each other and know what you must do. You head back to Jerusalem. You have to tell Jesus’ other followers who are still there in the city.

What is your conversation like on the way back?

You are traveling at night—something you never do, for safety’s sake. What does it feel like to be on the road at such a strange hour?

What thoughts keep running through your mind on this journey?

How has your perspective changed, now that you have met the resurrected Jesus?

WHAT IS THE DENIS CONNECTION?

The Denis Connection started with an idea I had after my brother passed away. His name was Dennis, and I believe that he died of loneliness. It made me realize that since I was the only person who spent time with him, one person is not enough. People need people. I named the ministry after my brother, and it stands for "Delivering Encouragement, Nurturing & Increasing Socialization." We started as a visiting ministry but also provide transportation to appointments and errands. We would like to get this ministry up and running again but we need your help.

If you would like to volunteer, we would love to have you join us. Training will be provided and you can choose how much time you can devote and pick a job that you feel comfortable with.

If you think the DENIS Connection could be of help to you, please contact the parish office and we will do our best to help you with your request.

Thank you, Debbie Shelton, Founder Denis Connection
